

Rachel Toalson is an award-winning poet, essayist, and novelist who is the author of multiple books, including This is How You Know, Life: a definition of terms, and the three-book Crash Test Parents series, published in 2017. In addition to poetry and essays, she has written multiple novels for early and middle grade readers under the pen names R.L. Toalson and L.R. Patton.

In addition, Rachel contributes poetry and essays to multiple print and online publications around the world.

Born in Houston, Texas, Rachel lives in San Antonio with her husband and six sons.